

Ed Betts, IDS

With over 45 years of experience teaching all aspects of scuba diving and breathing gas technology. Ed Betts has personally certified over 3,400 students plus more than 1,200 instructors to a variety of levels. Ed has authored or co-authored 26-textbooks and 28-instructor manual distributed in over 15 languages. He has authored hundreds of published articles on a variety of diving and medical research topics, most recently he has published many articles on hyperbaric research.

Ed has designed hundreds of Gas Distribution Systems and elevated the diving industry's capability through the introduction of what Ed calls "Optimal Breathing Gas Technology".

A partial list of diving certification ratings: NASDS Master Open Water Instructor # 1 and Open Water Instructor Trainer # 9; ANDI Instructor Trainer Director #1; International Association of Nitrox Divers (IAND) Instructor Trainer #2 ; NAUI # 3202 and PADI # 3632 Open Water Instructor.